The prices listed herein are advanced somewhat over the past season. This is in trend with most all products. My expenses in producing these trees have advanced in proportion.

There is a small supply of fruit trees available for planting throughout the United States for this Fall and Spring, 1935. Prices would be much higher if based on the supply available. I have a nice lot of fine quality trees. They are of the type I have been supplying my customers from year to year. This is enough explanation for my old customers as they continue to purchase their planting needs from me over a long period of years.

To anyone planning to plant out an orchard who has not purchased from me in past years, come and see the trees if possible. If you cannot do this I may be able to refer you to some one near to you who has bought of me in the past. No better reference can be given than a pleased customer.
